

San Francisco Bay Area Metropolitan Transportation System September 2002

The Metropolitan Transportation System (MTS) is the multimodal network of highways, major arterials, transit services, rail lines, seaports, airports, and transfer hubs that together are critical to the movement of people and freight in the Bay Area. The MTS depicted here reflects the state of the system in September 2002.

Legend

Freeway

Freeway with High-Occupancy-Vehicle (HOV) lane

Freeway HOV lane (under construction)

Main Highway

Expressway

Expressway with HOV lane

Highway/Primary Road

Secondary Road

Interstate Highway

U.S. Highway

California State Highway

County Route (Expressway)

Ferry Route and Terminal

BART and Station

BART and Station (under construction)

Light Rail

Light Rail (under construction)

Amtrak and Station

Caltrain and Station

ACE and Station

Freight Railway

Transit Service Area

Air Carrier Airport

General Aviation Airport

Military/Federal Air Base

Port

Ferry Terminal

Population over 350,000

Population 50,000 to 350,000

Population under 50,000

Scale

miles

0 2 4 6 8 10

kilometers

0 2 4 6 8 10

Street names may differ from those shown. All rights reserved. For more information or additional copies of this map, contact MTC at 833-464-7787 or on the web at www.mtc.ca.gov.

San Francisco

Oakland

San José