A presentation to the Alameda County Technical Advisory Committee

Jacki Taylor, Senior Program Analyst, Alameda CTC

April 8, 2021

State Transit Assistance (STA) Overview

- STA revenues generated through a statewide tax on the sale of diesel fuel
- Amount of STA revenue can vary greatly from year to year based on fluctuations in diesel prices
- Transit agencies are the only eligible direct recipients of STA funds
- Eligible uses include both capital projects and transit operations

State Transit Assistance (STA) Overview

STA Program Structure

- STA formula splits statewide revenue 50/50 between:
 - Revenue-Based program
 - Funds flow through the Metropolitan Transportation Commission (MTC) to transit operators based on their qualifying local revenue.
 - Population-Based program
 - Funds flow to the Bay Area based on the region's share of the State's population and are programmed by MTC.

STA County Block Grant Program

MTC's STA Population-Based Program:

- In 2018, MTC's STA Policy Framework, Resolution 4321, replaced Resolution 3837:
 - 70% directed towards a transit-focused STA County Block Grant program
 - 30% directed towards a Regional component administered directly by MTC to support Clipper, 511, and regional means-based fare program
- Revised framework only impacted programming methodology and not the amount of STA Population-based funds flowing to Alameda County, which remains 17.68%
 - STA Block Grant funds to Alameda County estimated $6M - $8M annually

STA County Block Grant Program

Alameda County's STA Block Grant Program

- Adopted by the Commission in April 2018, continues to distribute funds according to the three categories established in the original MTC STA Policy:
 - Small Operator Guarantee
 - Minimum 24% of annual funds, as required by MTC STA Block Grant policy
 - Regional Paratransit/Mobility Management
 - 25% of annual funds, consistent with amount distributed under prior MTC STA policy
 - Lifeline/ Means-Based Program
 - 51% of annual funds - formula-based distribution
 - Operators to use funds to benefit low-income riders (capital or operating)
 - Includes a 50% set-aside for the Affordable Student Transit Pass Program

STA County Block Grant Recommendation

Proposed distribution formula for FYs 2021-22 & 2022-23:

- No changes to:
 - Approved program categories and sub-categories;
 - Funding distribution to each program category; and
 - Funding distribution within the STPP sub-category, based on operators' estimated STPP participation for FY.
- Updated:
 - Funding distribution within the Lifeline sub-category updated to reflect operators' share of low-income ridership, based on latest rider income survey data available from MTC.
