For 13th Straight Year, Alameda CTC Recognized for Excellence in Financial Reporting

Cited for meeting the program's highest standards and a 'spirit of full disclosure,' award underscores Alameda CTC's commitment to transparency and voter promises.

ALAMEDA COUNTY, Calif. – The Alameda County Transportation Commission (Alameda CTC) has been recognized for the 13th consecutive year for excellence in financial reporting for its Annual Comprehensive Financial Report (ACFR) for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2025. The Government Finance Officers Association of the United States and Canada (GFOA) awarded Alameda CTC the Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting, the highest form of recognition in governmental accounting and financial reporting. The report was judged by an impartial panel to meet the program's high standards, including its standard for a constructive "spirit of full disclosure" that clearly communicates the agency's financial story and motivates potential users to read the report.

"Receiving GFOA's Certificate of Achievement for the 13th consecutive year reflects Alameda CTC's commitment to fiscal stewardship and clear financial reporting," said Tony Tavares, Executive Director of Alameda CTC. "With Measure BB, Alameda County voters gave us the resources and responsibility to make critical transportation investments. Strong fiscal practices help ensure we deliver on that trust. I thank Deputy Executive Director of Finance and Administration Patricia Reavey and our Finance team for the diligent work that continues to earn this recognition."

Award attainment represents a significant accomplishment and reflects Alameda CTC's longstanding commitment to fiscal leadership and transparency. In addition to this year's honor, Alameda CTC maintains a record of 100 percent clean audits since its inception in 2010.

About the Alameda County Transportation Commission

The mission of the Alameda County Transportation Commission (Alameda CTC) is to plan, fund and deliver transportation programs and projects that expand access and improve mobility to foster a vibrant and livable Alameda County. Governed by a 22-member Commission, Alameda CTC manages the county's one-cent transportation sales tax and serves as the county's congestion management agency. In Fiscal Year 2024-25, the agency carried out $414 million in transportation improvements that create jobs, enhance mobility, and enrich communities.
